User Stories

User Story 3: As a logged in user I want to keep track of my diet.

Description: Based on the information submitted by the user, the user is given a preliminary daily calorie intake count. The user can click on “Add food” and several buttons with categories of food (fruits, vegetables, grain, etc.) appear for the user to navigate and find their deserved input. If the user cannot find it, the user can manually add the food itself with its nutritional values. The user can also use a search bar. Once the user finds the food, a new page is brought up with the nutrition information of the food. The user can then input a number of the food. The user will now see the resulting remaining calories as well as specific macronutrients in grams for the day. The next day, the count is reset to its original value for the user.
